

Community of Practice webinar: Effective communication of Risk in Climate Adaptation

Date: Thursday, 27th March

Time: 10:30 – 12:00 CET

Platform: Zoom

Description

Effective climate risk communication is crucial for raising awareness and informing decision-making, but how can we translate complex risk data into actionable insights? This interactive session will explore key principles and resources of science communication and best practices from science and policy practitioners. Engage with practitioners to discuss challenges in risk communication, lessons learned from practical applications, and effective approaches to transform complex scientific knowledge into actionable knowledge.
